Art & Science of Lucasfilm - Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker

120 minutes

This special Schools at the Festival edition of this exciting collaborative educational series will highlight the work of the Academy Award nominated film Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker. Now in its 13th year, this program will feature experienced professionals from Lucasfilm and ILM as they share their knowledge in a behind-the-scenes, interactive multimedia presentation. This program demonstrates the intersection of art and science in the entertainment industry, all while making connections to current STEAM curriculum topics. Presentation doesn’t include screening of the film.

Boys State

Directed by Jesse Moss, USA, 2020, 109 mins

“I'm gonna keep my job if it's the last thing I do,” says one of the “elected officials” in Jesse Moss and Amanda McBaine's prize-winning documentary, and it's hard not to wince. Filming a group of Texas teens selected to participate in the titular highly respected program, Boys State masterfully observes as they engage in a weeklong course of political instruction, forming parties and platforms and electing candidates. As enthusiasm gives way to the competitive instinct, with members of the two parties turning to ruthless campaigning and sophisticated smear tactics (including "fake news") to win at all costs, the film holds up an unforgettable mirror to the country's current political turmoil.

Child of Nature

Directed by Marcos Negrão, USA, 2019, 90 min

In English and several other languages with English subtitles.

The world can be a very difficult place, especially for children. They are the greatest victims of war, poverty, hunger and abuse. Yet they are resilient and many of them are transforming their stories into a new beginning. Narrated by a young journalist from India, Child of Nature follows the journey of children from Kenya, Philippines, Syria, Canada and India who against all odds are creating change in their lives and their communities. Stories of courage, hope and generosity that will both amaze the mind and touch the heart.

Saudi Runaway

Directed by Susanne Regina Meures, Switzerland, 2020, 88 min

Muna is a young woman in Saudi Arabia, who is unable to live the life that she desperately wants. Restricted by laws and religious practices that prohibit women from doing anything alone – including leaving home to visit the store – Muna decides that she would rather dangerously chance fleeing her country and family to seek asylum elsewhere. Filmed entirely in secret by Muna on two cell phones, Saudi Runaway is an intimately personal thriller that follows the heartbreaking decisions and necessary steps to leave a life behind in hope for a better one.

SHORTS 5: FAMILY FILMS

Total running time: 66 min

Titles are listed alphabetically rather than in order of play.

Things are not always what they seem in this exciting collection of films from around the world. At first glance, a puddle is simply water accumulated on a sidewalk after an afternoon shower. A jumbled sequence of letters is surely just a child’s spelling error. One can easily jump to conclusions, but a closer look yields surprising and satisfying revelations. Works range from recent student films to award-winning independent filmmakers, along with stories told by emerging voices at established animation studios like Disney and Pixar.

Broken Bird
Birdie, a biracial girl pulled between separated parents, searches for her own identity as she prepares for her bat mitzvah and adulthood.
(Rachel Harrison, USA, 2020, 10 min)

Día de la Madre
A mariachi band made up of juveniles with a secret heartwarming agenda partakes in a 24-hour spree breaking into houses and causing a ruckus.
(Ashley Brandon, Dennis Höhne, USA, 2019, 6 min)

Elephant in the Room
A young boy forms a special bond with a lost baby elephant.
(Brian R. Scott, USA, 2019, 3 min)

For Estafani
A poet receives a card with a cryptic message from a third grader, uncovering a perfect little moment of beauty.
(Jordan Bruner, USA, 2019, 3 min)

The Fox & the Pigeon
A cunning fox grabs hold of destiny and rewrites the narrative to save his ice cream from a pigeon with a sweet tooth and a narrator with a wild imagination.
(Michelle Chua, Aileen Dewhurst, Canada, 2019, 6 min)

Grab My Hand: A Letter To My Dad
A filmmaker’s gift to his grieving father provides a message to all to cherish every second you have with the ones you love.
(Camrus Johnson, Pedro Piccinini, USA, 2019, 5 min)

Loop
Two kids at canoe camp find themselves adrift on a lake, unable to move forward until they find a new way to connect.
(Erica Milsom, USA, 2020, 8 min)

This is a Cinemay by the Bay film.

The Magic of Chess
A group of children competing at the 2019 Elementary Chess Championships share their uninhibited insights about the benefits of the game.
(Jenny Schweitzer Bell, USA, 2019, 5 min)

Matches
A young boy is interviewed about his hopes and fears while playing with his colorful matchsticks.
(Géza M. Tóth, Hungary, 2019, 12 min)

Pangu
A modern tale about parenthood and the differences between generations, based on the ancient Chinese creation myth.
(Shaofu Zhang, USA/China, 2020, 6 min)

Puddles
An adventurous boy discovers that puddles can be portals to a fantastical world.

Truth to Power: Barbara Lee Speaks for Me

Directed by Abby Ginzberg, USA, 2019, 80 min

Oakland residents have long considered Barbara Lee to be their fierce and visionary champion for social justice equity, but it was her historic “no” vote in the aftermath of 9/11 that captured the attention of the world. This comprehensive documentary by local luminary Abby Ginzberg shows Lee in her hometown as she reminisces on her early years as a single mother dependent on federal aid, to her work with the Black Panthers, and her pivotal friendships with Shirley Chisholm and Ron Dellums. Ginzberg takes full advantage of her unlimited access to Lee’s sons, sisters, and colleagues to present a compelling and inspiring profile of a Bay Area political powerhouse who has steadfastly worked on behalf of the underserved for decades.

A Voluntary Year

Directed by Ulrich Köhler and Henner Winckler, Germany, 2019, 86 min

High-school graduate Jette has plans to spend most of her gap year in Costa Rica. Though she wants to get out from under her domineering dad, Urs (Dark’s Sebastian Rudolph), her departure means separation from her beloved boyfriend, Mario. Writer/directors Henner Winckler and Ulrich Köhler (In My Room, Festival 2019) pinpoint a very particular moment of adolescent ambivalence when drastic change is something both desired and feared, and newcomer Maj-Britt Klenke brilliantly conveys the impulsive and mercurial behavior that can result.
